

BALLOT ISSUES ARE BRIEFED FOR RESIDENTS

Editor's Note—This is the fourth of eight articles explaining propositions appearing on the Nov. 4 ballot.)

Changes in the state law regulating chiropractors are included in Proposition 17, which is assailed by a spokesman for one organized group of the profession.

The disputed amendments would increase the Board of Chiropractic Examiners from five members to seven. They would authorize suspension or revocation of licenses of chiropractors found guilty of unprofessional conduct. Chiropractors would have to renew their licenses annually. One condition of renewal would be to take 16 hours of postgraduate study. The measure also would exempt chiropractors in the armed forces from paying the license renewal fee.

Proposition 17 defines "unprofessional conduct" as participating in criminal abortion; paying for steering patients into one's office; obtaining a fee on assurance that a manifestly incurable disease can be made entirely well; wilful betrayal of professional secrets of a patient to his detriment; untrue or misleading advertising; moral turpitude; or wilful neglect of a patient in critical condition.

Assemblyman Donald L. Grunsky of Santa Cruz County declares the changes are necessary to solve problems which have developed with growth of the state and the profession since enactment of the Chiropractic Act of 1922.

Homer York, president of the Chiropractic Institute of California is against Proposition 17. York maintains expansion of the board membership is unnecessary, will make for inefficiency, and will prove costly. As for compulsory postgraduate courses, York says they have been tried before and were discarded in other states as well as California.

Another bond issue to continue state loans to California veterans for farms and homes is proposed in Proposition I. If there is opposition to the measure, it is not voiced in the report prepared by the secretary of state on propositions.

Proposition 1 would authorize the issue and sale of $150,000,000 in state bonds to provide funds to carry on the loan programs.

The plan to assist veterans to acquire farms and homes at low financing cost originated in 1921, when California voters passed the law. Since that time, several bond issues have been passed to raise additional funds for the program.

Supporters of the measure point out that veterans have been so prompt with their payments that maturing bonds have been paid without cost to the taxpayer.

Proposition 29 would permit the Legislature to provide money to public agencies and non-profit organizations for construction of hospital facilities.

Congress is now making federal funds available for a portion of the costs of construction, but the state legislative counsel reports "serious doubt" whether the State Constitution permits use of state money for construction of hospitals by non-profit corporations. Proposition 20 would give the Legislature that power whenever the federal government makes funds available.

Supporters point out the measure would provide funds only for construction costs and not for operating expenses. They advocate this method as the way to solve the acute shortage of hospital beds in California.

They maintain it is better to give some support to non-profit hospitals because taxpayers would not have to bear operating costs as well as construction expenses as they do in the case of county hospitals.

Opponents protest against giving public financial aid to hospitals which are not owned, controlled or operated by the people. They warn that while no additional would be required, the measure will reduce money available for tax supported institutions.

LOCAL ADVENTISTS GET NEW PASTOR

Elder Harold H. Hare moved to 41 Cypress Avenue this week. Hare, who has served as pastor for the Seventh-day Adventist church in Sioux City, Iowa, will take over the pastorate of the local Adventist church. Elder and Mrs. Hare have two children.

Hare is a member of a committee of pastors of 10 Seventh-day Adventist churches from Gilroy to Burlingame who are studying the establishing of a central warehouse for emergency relief supplies. He was living in Iowa this year during the Missouri river flood and took an active part in the relief work the Adventists

COMMUNITY SERVICE FUND DRIVE REACHES FIRST THOUSAND MARK; WORKERS DRIVE TO REACH TOP

The Campbell Area Community Service Board held its regular meeting Monday evening, September 29, at Drive Headquarters on East Campbell Avenue, with Vice-President Edward F. Tablak in charge. The principal business of the evening concerned progress of the current Service Fund Drive. The motion to ask Union School organizations to delegate members to the Service Fund Board was unanimously passed, as was the motion to give financial support to Union School's milk fund.

The Community Service Fund Drive is moving according to plans laid by Chairman Ed Tablak and his committee. Encouraged by the achievement of the first thousand dollar mark on the thermometer, the workers are settling into a steady and determined effort to shove the mercury to the top. Though the drive-starting was slower than the sensational boom experienced by larger communities with paid, full-time chest employees, it is felt that Campbell Area's drive will not be lacking in the generous support of its residents.

Three outstanding facts make Campbell Areas' drive particularly deserving of the support of area residents. The Drive chairman said, 1) The money collected all goes to services and youth programs giving direct benefit to local people.

2) The time, effort and various skills involved in conducting a drive are all given free of charge by civic minded people of the community. Specifically, some community chests use 10 percent of the money donated to pay hired help, which means that the citizens pay for having their drive conducted for them. Campbell Area's Drive is a gift to the community by people willing to give of their time and skill.

3) The citizens of Campbell Area want their own Community Fund. In a recent poll, several hundred residents of various parts of the area were asked whether they desired to maintain their own Service Fund and control its disposition locally, or to join the mass movement into the National Red Feather campaign with its centralized control of funds. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of Campbell Area continuing the local home controlled, home benefitted and home supported fund.

Window stickers saying "I have given" have been asked for by many subscribers. Unfortunately this is one service the committee is unable to furnish this year.

Changes in plans and personnel at the late date put the committee under tremendous pressure for time and materials, and the window stickers could not be secured without undue expense at this time. It is hoped that subscribers will understand and willingly sacrifice the stickers this year. The areas have been carefully laid out, and it is not the intention that anyone should be twice solicited. However, human mistakes do occur at times in spite of efforts to prevent them. In case you are asked again, your receipt stub from your pledge card will show you have given, and the committee begs you to pardon the error.

"You who are residents of the Campbell Area are the center of this civic enterprise," said Edward Tablak, Drive chairman. "It is the hope of your Drive chairman and committee that each of you will think of the Service Drive as your own, and that you will experience a thrill of achievement as the mercury climbs in our thermometers."

"This is your community, these are your children, and the Campbell Area Service Fund Drive is your Drive. Support it liberally and you will receive the benefits of your own generosity. You can't lose, you are giving to yourselves when you Give Where You Live."

CITY WILL HAVE POLICE COURT FOR 3 MONTHS

Campbell City Council Monday voted to establish a city police court for the remainder of the calendar year to enable the city to benefit from fines levied as the result of arrests by its police department.

Beginning next year the new district courts will go into operation and Campbell will be included with the judicial area of Los Gatos and Saratoga.

Council named Campbell Township Justice of the Peace Martin S. Walsh to serve as police judge after it was reported he would be willing to accept the position.

City will also pay $100 a month for the court, police clerk, and office facilities.

BROWDER SPEAKS TO ROTARIANS ON CIVIL DEFENSE

Sam D. Browder assistant director of Civil Defense of San Jose, guest speaker at the regular Campbell Rotary meeting Monday, said that sooner or later war will again strike America.

Browder said it behooved citizens to know and understand the methods taken by cities, and individuals to combat the dangers present in an emergency.

Browder outlined recent civil defense activities of the state. He said the area is divided into 10 mutual aid regions and that most cities have enacted civil defense ordinances patterned after that adopted by the state.

He said that in the event of a national disaster, order would be maintained by the equivalent of martial law by civilians.

He mentioned the medical supplies stored in the San Jose area and the uses to which they would be put when and if an emergency occurred.

Rotarians report that the Kiwanis dinner last Thursday evening at Red Coach Inn, given by Rotarians as a result of their recent softball defeat was a lively affair.

Rotarians were reminded that the Community Service Fund Drive in Campbell is in full swing, and were urged to contribute generously.

Fred Jones, Jr., was chairman of the day assisted by program members Harry Rediker, Fritz Snyder, Bill Maderis, "Doc" Ardens, and Les Harmon.

MERLE S. COOK IS TOP PICKER

Best football prognosticator in the Campbell area in last week's Press football contest was Merle S. Cook, Real Estate Agent, connected with L. W. Harmon's Campbell Realty on East Campbell Ave.

Cook's entry was the earliest submitted last Thursday morning. He picked them all right except two toughies—the Notre Dame-Pennsylvania 7-7 tie and the Oklahoma-Colorado 21-21 score. No one else picked them either.

Second place tie winners were Pat Golden, 426 Maple Avenue and Bob Pentzer, 626 Kenneth Street with three wrong choices. Pentzer was second place winner in the first week's contest.

Elaine Beatty, 18548 Bucknall Road, Saratoga, was a third place winner also with three wrong choices, but whose entry was received in the Press office later than second place winners.

A great many entries are being received with the same scores, and the football editor reminds contestants that the time the entry is submitted is being considered as well as neatness as a factor of elimination.

PROCLAMATION

Never is our national existence has there been greater evidence than is before us today of the vital role of a free press in safeguarding liberty. In the relentless march of aggressors as they seek to dominate the world, we have seen in case after case the destruction of free government invariably preceded by the gagging of the press.

In the United States, the freedom of our press, along with the other basic freedoms we enjoy as Americans, is guaranteed by our Constitution. Under that guarantee the American press has always been a strong and vigilant force in the fight against despotism, intolerance and corruption. Freedom of the press cannot be taken for granted, however, inviolable as it may have seemed throughout our history. It must be constantly nurtured and protected, lest it be gradually undermined by forces which seek our national destruction.

Through the annual observance of National Newspaper Week, the publishers of our Nation give leadership in bringing about greater realization of the concern which every American should have in maintaining press freedom. This year the slogan of the week is "Your Right to Know—a Constitutional Guarantee."

In furtherance of this national program, I, Earl Warren, Governor of California, do hereby proclaim October 1 to 8, 1952, as NEWSPAPER WEEK in California. I urge that during this period all of the people of our State become more familiar with the newspaper services and facilities of their own communities to the end that they may better understand the importance of the press in maintaining our way of life.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 12th day of September, A. D., One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifty-Two.

COURT BATTLE LOOMS WITH S.J.-CUHS DISTRICT OVER S. WILLOW GLEN No. 10

Campbell Union High School district through its attorney, John M. Burnett, applied to the State Attorney Tuesday for permission to challenge the legality of San Jose's "Gerrymandering" annexation of South Willow Glen No. 10.

The 400-acre uninhabited tract became a part of San Jose June 29, in spite of protests from representative Cambrian Park residents, the City of Campbell, and spokesmen for the school district, over half of which lies within the annexed territory.

Annexed territory is contiguous to new high school site on Union Ave.

In two legal documents forwarded to the Attorney General Burnett based his case on the following points:

(1) San Jose annexation was plotted on an out-of-date map which fails to show a minor re-alignment of Foxworthy Ave. at Booksin Ave.

(2) Area is not "contiguous" to San Jose, in the legal definition of the word. Only connection, Burnett says, is the Plummer Ave. right-of-way which, he says, is not enough.

(3) Individual parcels of property within the annexation are not legally contiguous to each other. He said they were "gerrymandered" to escape an annexation election.

(Under Uninhabited) annexation act of 1913, if there are 12 or more electors in the territory, an election must be held.

(4) Permission was not obtained from the City of Campbell or from owners of annexation property abutting on streets.

San Jose City attorney after studying Burnett's arguments said it had no merit and that the city was prepared to demonstrate this.

CARS CRASH AT HAMILTON INTERSECTION

Campbell Police recorded two more accidents, both at the intersection of Hamilton Ave. and the San Jose-Los Gatos Road, over the weekend.

Eighteen year old Dorothy McGahey, wife of Marvin McGahey, 21, 776 Steinway, Campbell, received a broken leg and was taken to the County Hospital Sunday morning at 2:57 a.m. when the car her husband was driving struck one driven by Burton B. Dampier, 44, Rt. 1, Box 487, Los Gatos.

Dampier's car, a 1951 flat-bed truck, careened across the road at a 45 degree angle, ran down a sign, made a circle and ran into a pole before it stopped, according to the police report. He received cuts on the face and neck.

Another accident, at the same location, Saturday morning at 4 o'clock involved a car driven by Raymond Tomlinson, 24, Hunt's Foods Cannery worker, 55 Gilman Ave., and John Pete Kusalo, 1515 Bryant Ave., Mountain View, who traveling east on San Jose-Los Gatos Road, struck Tomlinson's car. A passenger Sam Haynes was injured slightly and was taken to County Hospital for observation.

CAMBRIAN CUBS TO MEET

Cub Pack 38, with Cubs from Cambrian Park and Union District, will hold their first pack meeting Friday, October 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Union District Elementary School. Cubs must be accompanied by parents.

DELEGATION URGES COUNCIL ACTION ON CAMPBELL HATCHERY SITUATION; NEW ORDINANCE TO BE ADOPTED SOON

A regulatory ordinance, with an urgency clause, prohibiting unsanitary conditions in existing business institutions in the City of Campbell, with a penal provision, which will put violators in contempt of the ordinance should be ready for adoption at next Council meeting, according to City Attorney Joseph A. Bonacina.

CITY ENJOYS FORTY CENT TAX REDUCTION

Grand total tax rate for local tax districts which include West Valley Hospital District, Campbell Union Elementary School District, Campbell Union High School District, Campbell Fire and Lighting District for the year 1952 is $4.698 cents for each $100 assessed valuation, a drop of .408 cents over last year's rate, $5.106.

Roy P. Emerson, county tax collector, said increased valuation in the district enabled county to reduce individual assessments to meet the reduced county budget. There were no City of Campbell taxes payable this year because Campbell was not incorporated at the time the tax rolls were made up.

Individual breakdown, according to Emerson and County Assessor Hayden W. Pitman, is as follows:

School rate, 1952, $2.65, is up six cents from last year's $2.593. Overall county rate is down 10 cents this year, from $1.90 to $1.80. West Valley Hospital District, six cents last year on land only is five cents this year. Lighting district is 15 cents this year, down 12 cents from last year's .223. There is no Fire tax this year due to incorporation.

Sanitary District Tax rate this year is .177, down seven cents from 1951 rate of 24 cents a hundred dollars assessed valuation.

Local Merchants To Gather Info For Business Tax

The Campbell Chamber of Commerce met in regular session last night in the office of the chamber, 19 S. First street, to entertain suggestions and proposals for a business tax or license for the city of Campbell.

It was suggested by representative merchants that each business concern in the city write or otherwise obtain information from corresponding merchants in other cities of comparable size as to the amount of business tax paid.

Councilman Joseph V. Gomes and committee are gathering information from local merchants to submit to City Attorney Joseph A. Bonacina for the preparation of a business license for the city, expected in approximately three weeks.

Chamber of Commerce members will meet next Wednesday night in the chamber office to discuss results obtained from individual merchants.

Rumor has it that city expects approximately $4,000 income from business license tax which would levy a tax of approximately $40 on the 107 merchants in Campbell exclusive of professional people.

"The tax is bound to come," Dave Ribble said, "and it's up to us to put a shock absorber on it."

Most merchants agreed, however, that a business license tax was preferable to parking meters and, or a sales tax.

WHO MADE THE ERROR

As often happens in the helter-skelter rush to prepare a political campaign—a mistake is made, now and then. In the last issue of the Campbell Press the ad for Paul Crawford, candidate for Judge of the Justice Court, stated that he was the incumbent. Actually Crawford is incumbent Justice of the Peace in the Saratoga township.

The superintendent of the Campbell Press says it wasn't his fault. The Advertising Dept. claims innocence. The man who wrote the ad said it couldn't possibly have been his mistake since he knew the original copy from Crawford read "Incumbent Justice of the Peace."

Well, that's the way it goes in political wars. . .

The ordinance, suggested by Councilman Joseph V. Gomes, is aimed at correcting alleged conditions at Campbell Hatchery, 111 South Winchester Road.

City Clerk Dorothy P. Trevathan was directed to write LaVerne Houck and L. L. Ford, co-operators of Campbell Hatchery, informing them that such an ordinance is being drafted, and requesting them to appear before the council Monday evening.

The action followed an hour long heated discussion by a delegation of property owners in the vicinity of the Hatchery, who, backed by a 101 signature petition, objected to the flies, odor and alleged unlicensed killing of poultry.

Roy S. Lavette, 171 Giles Way, spokesman for the delegation, presented the petition and requested Council action on abatement proceedings.

City attorney Joseph A. Bonacina and mayor Richard W. Morton, said that if the matter came to a court decision, the City's case would have to be based on impartial and scientific evidence, necessitating expensive litigation, impossible in the light of the city's financial condition.

"It doesn't take an expert to know the place smells," Lavette said.

"If you want proof," John McBain, 111 Giles Way said, "Look at this," and held up a gallon jar half filled with "blow" flies, which, he said, came from the Hatchery. "It's been emptied three times in the last month," he said.

Forrest Reese, Chamber of Commerce secretary said the delegation would have a hard time proving the flies were from the Hatchery.

"Then we'll band the flies," said Lavette.

Others in the delegation, Mr. and Mrs. Verner E. Allen, 130 Giles Way, Mrs. C. C. Gilliam, Rincon Ave., Stella Cane, Star Nursing Home owner, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cherry, 110 Giles Way offered suggestions and criticisms ranging from a solution "by force" to disbelief that such a petition should be ignored. Some felt that more action would have been taken if the city were unincorporated.

McBain said he was "shocked" and "disgusted" at the "wishy-washy" attitude of the mayor and council.

Councilman Joseph V. Gomes, defending the city's position, said that the County Health Office, a supposedly neutral body, authorized to make such inspections had filed a report giving the Hatchery a clean bill of health.

"If the Hatchery operators had affidavits of such report," Gomes said, "to present in a court action, the city of Campbell would also have to have impartial and expert opinion to counteract such affidavits."

Enforcement of the proposed ordinance under the police power of the city would eliminate the necessity for a court action, it was pointed out.

KIWANIS ELECTS OFFICERS TUES.

Guest speaker at Kiwanis ladies night Tuesday was George Hunter, recently returned from Iran, on the annual teacher exchange student program.

Hunter touched on the oil situation in that country and analyzed the influx of communism. The solution, as seen by Hunter, was not to fight it with force, but with brotherhood and goodwill.

Kiwanis members elected a new slate of officers for the coming year with Milt Nelson, new president. Others elected were: Henry Jewell, vice-president, Ethan Lanphear, treasurer, and Guy Farley, secretary.

New board of directors to take office January, 1953, include: Lowell Benson, John Duncan, Joseph Gomes, Budd Levenberg, Fred Jones, Clarence Nelson, and Lloyd Nelson.

Teachers Tell of Summertime When The Livin' Was 'Easy'

By Oca-Wa-Sin Campfire Group

A teacher's vacation is like a postman's holiday in many instances, according to a recent survey of the faculty of San Tomas School. Six of the teachers interviewed attended summer session at San Jose State College, and while learning isn't teaching, rhetorically, it's still school.

The survey was conducted at a luncheon given for the faculty by the P.T.A. board, whose members turned the tables on the teachers by requiring them to write compositions entitled "How I Spent My Vacation."

Sam Cook was one of those confined to class rooms for an extra six weeks. It is rumored that he also had formula-fixing and diaper-changing on his schedule.

Richard Cirigliano worked for his master's degree at SJSU; then fished and hunted the wild abalone. Stan Adams, after summer session, worked for the Federal-State Inspection Service. Phyllis Jones became a coed once more, and later she was employed in the toy department of Leask's Department Store in Santa Cruz. Mary Helen Morse travelled to Sacramento and busied herself with family-type tasks after finishing summer school.

Claudia Kirby toiled on the campus, took her two boys swimming every day for three weeks, butchered a calf she and her family had raised, upholstered furniture, sewed, knitted, embroidered, needle-pointed and in general just lay around taking life easy.

Perhaps the greatest undertaking by a San Tomas teacher this summer was Pauline McKinney's. She changed her name to Pauline Gardner.

June Bischoff enjoyed a trip to Oregon and a week near the Rogue River, where she learned to catch fish. She does not plan to include instruction in this art in the school curriculum. June also moved into a new home.

Being a housewife and mother, taking short trips to Sacramento and Santa Barbara, and golfing filled Helen Powell's vacation.

Ray R. Wilson led a mule into the high Sierras. Mr. Wilson fished, took pictures and perfected his outdoor culinary skill. The mule packed the grub and camping gear. He is not a member of the faculty.

Dorothy Blair revelled in nature at White Sands National Monument in New Mexico. White Sands, as she informed the P.T.A., is a silica deposit several square miles in area, in high, shifting dunes, which children love to slide down as though the "sand" were snow. Leora Emig spent a week in the Russian River area and visited Fort Ross, famous in California history.

Betty Miescke and her husband Carl worked at Plantation Camp, which is on the site of a resort town of the '90s and is crammed with history. Carl was naturalist for camp, while Betty performed as chanteuse and also set tables. The Miesckes played father and mother to 16 boys, with whom they hiked, swam, cooked out and observed wild life at two lakes.

Joaquin, one of San Tomas' popular custodians, reports that he spent his vacation working. San Tomas School was painted inside and out, and furniture as well went under the brush. Joaquin's last name is Miranda, and his middle name, he says, is Work.

Teachers who did not turn in written reports but are also back at school refreshed and on their toes are Annamarie Schafer, Laura Blaine and Dorothy Ingham.

CAMPBELL REGISTER

KATHERINE KOLLMER, daughter of Col. and Mrs. EMIL F. KOLLMER of N. Milton Avenue, is living at home with her parents while working at San Jose State College toward her degree, which she will receive in December.

Katherine was Director of the Louisville Children's Theatre from September, 1951, to June of this year. She also taught children's classes in creative dramatics. During the summer she directed the children's theatre in connection with the Camden Hills Theatre of Maine. This summer theatre was distinctive in that all participants were non-professionals, being chiefly, college students.

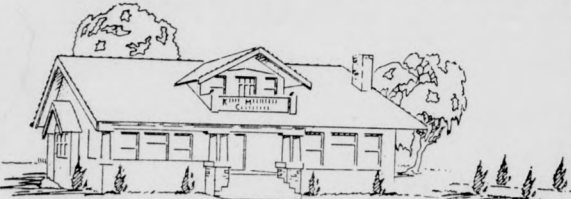

"Sleeping Beauty" was one of the plays directed by Katherine Kollmer this summer, and she directed the children's parts in "Lady in the Dark".

On her way home in September, Katherine attended the Children's Theatre Conference in Madison, Wisconsin, in which she took part in a discussion panel.

Always interested in children and dramatics, Katherine has been a counsellor in summer camps, where the relationship of her two great interests was made manifest.

Katherine was met in Denver by her sister, MARGARET KOLLMER, who was attending a wedding in the "mile-high" city, and the two journeyed homeward together. Margaret is in nurses' training at Stanford Hospital.

Benedict-elect RAY PHARRIS, who will wed PAULINE CLEVELAND in the Methodist Church on October 4th, arrived in Campbell from Fairbanks, Alaska, last Friday. Ray expects his parents today from the Imperial Valley.

ALL UNDER 80 MAY REGISTER

All persons between 1 and 80 years of age may now register in the Purple Shield Plan to eliminate funeral expense to the family.

A small sum is paid at convenient periods into a fund of an admitted legal reserve insurer, the Pierce Insurance Co., then in time of need, the Plan pays the funeral bill regardless of how little has been paid in.

This plan is recommended by the Krug Memorial Chapel and other leading California mortuaries. For free literature write

Cutting Nature Paintings Presented To Two Churches

Reminders of the wonder of God's world, painted by Campbell's noted artist, F. H. Cutting, now hang in the Methodist and Congregational churches of Campbell, and they are reminders, as well, of the children of the community and their thoughtful leaders.

"Red Cliff," a marine study executed near Canada de la Salud, north of Davenport, was presented to the Methodist Church, and "The Redwoods," portraying sequoias and a shaft of sunlight, was presented to the Congregational Church by Mrs. William C. Henley on behalf of the Campfire Girls, whose leader she was for three years. Each painting is accompanied by a bronze plaque inscribed:

"Donated
Oca-wa-sin
Campfire
44-49"

Presentation was made September 23rd at a meeting of Sigma Sigma at the Union Avenue home of Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, whose co-hostesses were her daughters, Mrs. Marion Parker and Mrs. Alice Newcomb. Dr. Harry E. Burke, chairman of the Official Board of the Methodist Church, accepted "Red Cliff" for the church. Dr. Burke spoke in appreciation of the painting, "a fitting reminder of the wonder of God's world."

The Reverend Corwin H. Olds received "The Redwoods" for his church, recalling the poetic line, "And all the towering trees made a throne." Dr. Olds expressed his pleasure in the appropriateness of having a Cutting painting in the Campbell Congregational Church, where the Cutting family has worshipped for more than 50 years.

It is also appropriate, the pastor said, that the church display a reminder of the Campfire Girls and of their sponsor, Sigma Sigma, Congregational women's organization.

On the committee which selected the gifts for the churches were Mesdames Carol Evans, Irma Sanders and Jo Henley, who worked together as leaders of Campfire groups. The idea was Mrs. Henley's, and the fund for the purchase was accumulated by Oca-wa-sin Campfire Girls when she was their leader.

Mrs. Henley explains that when her daughter, Janis, was in the seventh grade, Campfire leaders were needed, and Mrs. Henley volunteered for a post. Her group, numbering more than 20 girls, conducted several money-making projects, and at the end of the year they had banked about $100. Finding themselves inordinately solvent, they found suitable uses for some of the money, but two years later, at the end of their freshman year in high school they still showed assets of $85. The girls grew up; some of them are now mothers, but the fund, now grown to $94, remained in the bank, and Mrs. Henley, after long deliberation with Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Sanders, decided on the purchase of Cutting paintings for the churches which the Campfire Girls attended.

"Go to Church Sunday" is a Campfire custom, and because of the sponsorship of Sigma Sigma, the Congregational Church was attended on these

LeRoy Little Bestows Name On Florence Jean Pellegrino

Michael Pellegrino escorted his daughter, Florence Jean, to the altar of Holy Cross Church of San Jose, where Leroy Little waited to receive her as his bride. White baskets of white flowers appointed the church for the ceremony.

Florence wore an off-the-shoulder gown of Chantilly lace and satin with en train skirt. Her bouquet was of stephanotis and French knots, centered with a white orchid.

Dorothy Pellegrino, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, attired in a gown of coral nylon tulle with matching hat and shoes. She carried a bouquet of peacock blue flowers. Bridesmaids, in peacock blue, were the Misses Lorine Carli, Gloria Della Maggiore, LaVerne Vita and Edith Pankoski. They wore gowns of ballerina length with matching stole and accessories and carried coral chrysanthemums.

The bride's nieces, Jeanie Pellegrino and Natalie Argero, were flower girls.

Mrs. Michael Pellegrino selected a teal green crepe dress with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Roy Little, mother of the benedict, chose a light grey suit with black accessories. Both mothers pinned on orchid corsages.

The bride is an alumna of San Jose High School and is now employed by the State Board of Equalization. Her husband is a veteran of three years service in Korea and a former Campbell High School student.

Leroy was attended by Bill Little as best man. Ushers were Ed Brown, Joe Pellegrino, Frank Cardia and Uny Pierce.

Vocal offerings were presented by Lela Chlappino.

The new Mrs. Little donned a suit of oyster grey faille with black velvet accessories before departing with her husband for a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe.

Job's Daughters Go to Church

"Go to Church Sunday" was observed October 29th by Job's Daughters, Bethel 174, at the Campbell Methodist Church. All officers and the choir were present, supporting the honored queen, Janis Henley, who fulfilled a Job's Daughters' tradition by scheduling a "Go to Church Sunday."

Past honored queens, who received congregation members at the church door, were Jeanne Currie and Bobby Enochs. Also present was past honored queen Janet Coombs. Honored queen Janis Henley, according to her own custom, pinned a corsage on her guardian, Mrs. LBen Howard, and a boutonniere on her associate guardian, Mr. Les Titus.

October 29th was Rally Day at the Methodist Church, and attendance was large. A dramatic reading of the new version of the Bible was presented, with Mrs. Robert McCall offering passages from the King James version while responses from the new version were given by members of the congregation and choir.

A copy of the "new Bible" was given to each member of the fourth grade class in a candle-lighting ceremony in which Reverend Herbert W. Neale and the parents of the recipients participated.
